PROBING QUESTIONS: Students at Phillips Academy crowd around Sargent Shriver to question him about Peace Corps and War on Poverty programs. (Graber)

Broad Issues Discussed

Two Moves

Clean Waters Are Discussed

Pollution of the Merrimack was attacked on two fronts within the week.

In North Andover, Western Electric Co. announced plans for construction of an additional water treatment plant in anticipation of the day when its present facility will be too small to purify the volume and type of polluted water that will be generated by the WE operation.

Sen. Edward W. Brooke, appearing at WE to keep a campaign promise, told area and State officials attending the luncheon conference that the country needs more of the kind of voluntary cooperation Western Electric is offering to help solve the river pollution problems of the Merrimack Valley. (Brooke told WE workers in November that if elected to the U. S. Senate, he would visit the North Andover plant on his first official visit home from Washington.)

Elimination of pollution cannot be achieved without the participation and cooperation of the private sector of the economy, he said. "We cannot rely on the possibility that such essential cooperation will be furnished voluntarily," Brooke added.

Pointing out that it will take an estimated $1 billion in capital improvements to eliminate pollution across the country, Brooke said it is obvious some companies cannot afford to purchase control devices that will return little, if anything, on the initial investment.

He said he favors a larger tax incentive than the seven percent now offered, but prefers not to propose a specific percentage until he can give the question further study.

WE general manager, Harry N. Snook reported following the luncheon that the company presently discharges 40 million gallons of industrial waste and 80 million gallons of sanitary waste at the North Andover plant. He said increased use of electro-chemical processes involving chromates, copper salts, acids and hydroxides will contribute to the need for expanded water purification facilities at the manufacturing center.

AIM Seminar

Three days later, representatives of Valley industries and public officials met in Andover for a pollution seminar organized by Associated Industries of Massachusetts.

Stressing the need for cooperation and coordination, one speaker warned the audience that after June 30 the 11th commandment for industry will be "Thou Shall Not Pollute." Both State and Federal pollution acts become effective on July 1.

Thomas C. McMahon, director of the Massachusetts water pollution control division, told industrialists that the key to the State program is Federal assistance. State and Federal aid will reduce the cost of pollution control to the towns by 20 to 30 percent he said.

News Capsules

• Andover is embroiled in a controversy with the State over use of steel traps to remove beavers from the waters of the Shawsheen. Following the complaint of some residents along the Shawsheen about tree damage caused by beavers, employees of the Division of Fisheries and Game came into Andover last week to trap. The town manager has now written the head of that agency to find out why such trapping was authorized when the Andover Board of Selectmen is already on record with the State as disapproving the use of such traps in Andover.

• The new North Atlantic Internal Revenue Service Center on Lowell Street will be dedicated Feb. 23. IRS Commissioner Sheldon S. Cohen and Undersecretary of the Treasury Joseph W. Barr will participate in the ceremonies beginning at 2:30 p.m.

• Having failed to comply with one court order, Mrs. Lorraine C. Sorenson, 2 Burnham Rd., has been given an additional two weeks to clean up her property. She has already been found guilty of violating Andover health regulations.

An attorney for the defense said Thursday that an attempt had been made to remove debris remaining on the property but that weather conditions had prevented a total clearing. Mrs. Sorenson faces a $100 fine if she fails to satisfy the Town and the Court.

• Wilfred J. Bolduc, 30 of 348 River Rd., was fined $50 in Lawrence District Court Friday for operating an auto under the influence of alcohol. Bolduc was involved in an accident in Lawrence Thursday which caused minor injuries to passengers in

TM Pace Accelerates

ABC Issue

Board Approves Warrant Article

Tuesday's storm interfered with plans of the Andover ABC Committee to win approval from the School Committee for admission of 10 disadvantaged non-residents at Andover High School at the opening of the 1967 school term in September.

The board's Feb. 7 meeting was cancelled and rescheduled for Feb. 13.

Meanwhile, however, an article on the A Better Chance program has been inserted in the Warrant for the March Town Meeting at the direction of the School Committee which was together Thursday night for a special session to discuss preliminary plans for the new southeast elementary school. This was a move ABC officials had said their group would take if the School Committee failed to act favorably on the proposal to admit students selected through a national ABC screening process to local school. The ABC committee is seeking private, U. S. government and foundation financing for the program.

The motion on the TM article came from Frederick Fitzgerald and was supported by William A. Doherty and Chairman Louis J. Galbiati. Voting against the move Virginia H. Cole and Robert E. Sherman. Sherman expressed the view that a decision on the proposal is School Committee responsibility.

Chairman Galbiati has since released a statement in which he agrees that the ultimate decision must be made by his board, but he adds that he feels the program would lose much of its value if the citizens of the town were deprived of the opportunity to become involved.

The chairman expressed confidence that voters will approve ABC once informed of its merits. (For the full text of Dr. Galbiati's statement, see Page three).

Town Counsel Frederic S. O'Brien told the Selectmen Monday that the Warrant article will do nothing more than provide Schoolmen with an expression of public opinion. He pointed out that the committee alone can decide whom to admit into the system, and he added that if ten such young people become residents of the town, they must be permitted to enroll.

The Warrant

Recreation Change Asked

Among the 46 articles in the 1967 Warrant are two private ones that call for radical changes in the town's recreation department organization.

George Snyder of 63 Maple Ave., former playground director, is proposing that the position of recreation director be abolished and that the director of the Andover Youth Center, a private Red Feather agency, assume responsibility for planning the town's summer recreation program.

Snyder further proposes that the job of the full-time maintenance man assigned to the recreation department be eliminated and his duties handled by the park department.

Commenting on his proposals, said he feels the town is probably wasting $15,000 to $16,000 a year on its recreation operation. He said he feels the work of the town director and the Youth Center overlap and that the position of recreation director has not justified its existence. He added that nothing has been added in the way of youth recreation since the days of the old recreation committee.

The position of recreation director was created during the administration of the first town manager and with public support. The present manager abolished the

Candidates Answer League

All five candidates for the Board of Selectmen have said that they believe there is a need for expansion and improvement of present town recreational facilities and four record themselves in favor of annual appropriations for conservation.

The five are not in full accord on just what should be done in the area of recreation, however, nor do they agree on how much should be spent for conservation purposes.

The candidates, along with those for two openings on the School Committee, have expressed their opinions on subjects proposed by the League of Women Voters for a mailer to be sent to all registered voters this week.

Incumbent Philip K. Allen reports that he will support an article in the 1967 warrant article calling for appropriation of $250,000 for acquisition of conservation lands over an undetermined period of time, but his fellow selectman, Robert A. Watters says he would favor annual appropriations of no less than $25,000 for this purpose. George L. LeFebvre states that he would suggest an appropriation of $35,000 for conservation, but he proposes spending it for improvements to Hussey's Pond and Pump's rather than land acquisition.

And candidate Marco Pettoruto proposes a study and coordinated plan for conservation with appropriations subject to scheduling and review from year to year.

Passing up the conservation question, Ernest N. Hall registers himself in favor of improved recreation facilities and suggests that the number one step to be taken toward such improvements is the appointment of a residents' recreation committee with a budget and responsibility for a "broader program of activities, bringing these programs to all sections of town."

If additional space or land is needed, Hall says he would fund them through a capital expenditure program.

The four candidates for School Committee state in written responses to the League that they believe school sites should be large enough for future recreational needs and all agreed that town people should be encouraged to make use of school facilities after hours.

Incumbent William Doherty pointed out, however, that schools exist primarily for the education of children and that buildings must be ready at all times for their use. He said groups should combine to share in the use of a single building after hours rather than creating the need for lighting and heating several.

Candidates Richard Katz, Irving L. Newman and incumbent Robert Sherman took stronger positions in favor of public use of school facilities.

Eye Testing Offered Free

Vision screening for pre-school children ages 4 and 5 will be offered free of charge to Andover residents at South Church on Feb. 14 from 1 to 5 p.m., and again on Feb. 15 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Professionally trained volunteers, members of Andover Society, will administer tests on these dates under the direction and supervision of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Blindness and with the cooperation of the Andover Health Department.

Andover reports that most cases of Amblyopia an eye disease of children, can be corrected, if discovered early enough. Since young children do not know how well they should see, it is vitally important their eyes be tested and that they have good vision.

Galbiati's ABC Statement

The TOWNSMAN reprints the full text of School Chairman Louis Galbiati's statement on the A Better Chance program proposed for Andover High School.

"The proposed ABC program is one solution to a broad sociological problem which affects the town and its citizens. The success or failure of the program is dependent upon the degree of acceptance by the citizens and their willingness to make it succeed. The elimination of racial hatreds and bias can only be achieved in a cultural atmosphere which recognizes the problem and is seeking a solution; the mandatory involvement of a portion of the society will do little good.

The inclusion of the article in the town warrant relative to the program makes it necessary for the ABC committee to enlighten the citizens of Andover as to the merits of the program and enables the citizens to involve themselves in the problem. They must evaluate the ABC program in terms of their standards and think about the entire problem in preparation for their decision as to how to cast their votes at the town meeting; they have the opportunity to express their opinions in the way it counts - via their votes. If they are indifferent and choose not to vote, others will decide for them.

In short they can be involved if they choose to be so.

If the school committee had chosen to make the decision or had approved the program without a town meeting vote because of time considerations, it would have deprived the citizens of the opportunity to become involved and the entire program would lose much of its value. The School Committee must make the ultimate decision relative to the merits of the ABC program in terms of the educational objectives of the Andover School System, available resources and the advantages to students.

I feel confident that the citizens, after determining the merits of the ABC proposal, will approve the article. This will clarify the intent of the town and be a mandate to all town officials."

• As a life preserver offers help, so lilies - symbol of the Easter Seal Society - offer hope to the crippled of all ages. This year's Massachusetts Easter Seal Children are seven-year-olds Mindy Hall of Lincoln and Barry Stafford of South Boston. The youngsters were among 152 crippled boys and girls throughout the state who last summer played, lived and learned with able-bodied children in the Easter Seal camping program. The 1967 Easter Seal campaign for $380,000 starts Feb. 20.

• Massachusetts Congressman F. Bradford Morse has introduced legislation that could return $63.5 million in federal tax revenues to Massachusetts next year. Morse's Federal Revenue-Sharing proposal would return one percent of the aggregate federal income tax revenues to the states on the basis of population and tax effort. The proportion would rise to two percent by 1970.

"This measure is similar to the bill I first introduced in 1965 to aid the states and local communities in the implementation of health, education and welfare programs," Morse said. "We are all familiar with the severe restraints on the state and local governments when they are confined to a property and sales tax base. High property taxes only inhibit a state's ability to compete for new industry and new jobs," Morse said on the Floor of the House.

• Chester T. Jenkins, assistant treasurer of Andover Savings Bank, has been named treasurer in the Andover area for the 1967 Easter Seal campaign for crippled children and adults. The local mail appeal goal is $1,450.

• Sen. Edward M. Kennedy has introduced a bill in Washington concerned with the conservation of this country's estuaries and estuarine areas. In presenting the bill, Sen. Kennedy said the tidal wetlands are not only important to the commercial fishing industry, but provide vast recreational opportunities and have great scientific value as natural "labs."

old citizen's recreation committee soon after his arrival here in order to make the director fully responsible for the operation of the department.

Replying to the charge that the town has nothing new in the way of youth recreation programs, Director Leslie Bartow said Tuesday that the statement contains an element of truth. He explained that the primary emphasis since his arrival here has not been program, but development that would permit an expanded and upgraded program.

Bartow said he was handed the present Andover Recreation Park in an undeveloped state in 1963 and told to make use of it. Not until later, he said, did the town appropriate $10,000 to improve the old Scout lodge on the property. Much of the work of his department has been directed at turning this park into a usable facility and an upgrading existing recreation programs. He pointed out that the park lodge is now used five to seven times a week by various groups.

Bartow said he has also directed his efforts toward working with such organizations as the Boy and Girl Scouts etc. on recreation projects because this expands the opportunities available to youth in Andover without adding to the tax burden.

The present director at the Andover Youth Center is Donald C. Dunn, public school athletic director. He said Snyder's proposal regarding the job he holds was made without his advance knowledge.

Asked to comment, Dunn said: "I do feel we need a new and bigger Youth Center and I do feel the town needs a recreational director who has proper (financial and otherwise) support."

He went on to say that he thinks Bartow has done a good job, considering the limited support he has had. The athletic director says he has worked with the town employee on projects at the Youth Center and that they have been mutually helpful to one another on youth programs on a number of occasions.

It is known that Youth Center trustees have discussed the possibility of raising private funds for construction of a modern youth recreation facility for the town providing Andover would assume responsibility for operating and maintaining the facility through its recreation department.

SIGNS OF THE TIMES

Remember when people placed a card in their window to let the ice man know how much ice they wanted? If you do, you'll probably remember some other signs that have almost disappeared.

Remember the signs that went up when the children came down... with diphtheria... or scarlet fever... or measles?

Thanks to modern pharmaceuticals, many common diseases can be prevented or, at least, quickly treated. Complications are rare.

How did all this happen? Because drug makers invested money and brainpower in research. Today, they're still investing—about $1 million every day—for your good health.

Symbolic Stone Set In Foundation

The Rev. Hartland H. Gifford, pastor of Faith Lutheran Church reports that a stone presented to the congregation by Christ Church Episcopal has been placed in the foundation of the new Lutheran building being erected on the site at Wildwood Rd. and South Main St.

The gift, an original stone from the foundation of Christ Church, was presented to the Lutheran group by the rector of the Episcopal congregation, Rev. J. Edison Pike, on Easter Sunday, 1965, when the Lutherans held their first worship service on their own property. The stone is symbolic of the bond of friendship and fellowship between the two congregations.

Teens Fear Adult World

Today's teenagers both desire and fear adult responsibility and privilege.

This is among the points made by Beatrice Bloom, ACSW, chief of social service at the Greater Lawrence Guidance Center in speaking at the first of three seminar lectures in a series sponsored by the Center and the North Andover-Andover Parents League.

Speaking to a League audience Thursday, Mrs. Bloom said that because teenagers are both attracted to adulthood and fearful of what it brings, they become heavily dependent upon other teenagers for support.

Warning parents that teenagers need limits and some sense of parental expectations, the social worker said parents should think of the emotional struggle adolescents are making to become independent when they are inclined to feel hurt or angered by the bursts of negativism and anger that frequently accompany the struggle.

The second lectures in the series are scheduled for today and Feb. 16. Today John M. Harnes, MA, acting chief psychologist at the Guidance Center will discuss "The Use and Misuse of Testing."

On Feb. 16, Mary D. Bain, MD, child psychiatrist, director of the Greater Lawrence Guidance Center, will speak on "Should Parents Feel Guilty?"

This series is presented without charge to members of the North Andover-Andover Parents League. Any member who was unable to attend the first lecture is welcome to come to the two remaining ones.

The program was planned by Mrs. Adair Miller and Mrs. Harry Axelrod of the Parents League together with Dr. Mary Bain, director and Mrs. Anne Vargus.

DASA Acquires Microdealers, Adds Division

Microdealers Inc. of Waltham, Mass., a national distributor of microfilm equipment and supplies, has been acquired by DASA Corp., it was announced Tuesday by Richard S. Leghorn, president of the Andover Company.

The acquisition involved an exchange of an undisclosed amount of stock, according to the announcement.

Simultaneously, the DASA President announced formation of a new graphic products division. The division will include Microdealers and the former Documat, Inc., which was acquired by DASA in December from International Telephone & Telegraph Inc.

The new division will provide a variety of microfilm products, such as readers, reader-printers, comparators, film, and other supplies to industry and government through its established network of dealers. With the formation of this division, the announcement said, DASA becomes one of the nation's major suppliers of items associated with microfilm processing, viewing, and reproduction.

Microdealers operates in three major business areas: expendable supplies, such as microfilm, processing chemicals, film boxes, and film reels; standard microfilm equipment, such as microfilm readers, film processors, microscopes, and inspection units; and system-oriented information handling equipment, including microfilm comparators and photo-retrieval units.

White Suggests Charter Review

Selectman Sidney P. White would like the town to undertake a review of the manager charter, particularly with a view to altering the requirement that the manager have a preliminary budget review for the Selectmen and Finance Committee by Dec. 1.

White says the time the manager has to devote to meeting the stipulation could be directed toward other town business.

The manager, Richard J. Bowe, has expressed interest in the suggestion, but says he feels it advisable to delay such a study until officials can inform themselves about the provisions of new home rule legislation that will stipulate the procedures for charter revisions.

PHILIP K. ALLEN

Philip K. Allen, 1 Highland Rd., is running for re-election to the Board of Selectmen. He has served continuously on that board since the inception of the Town Manager Form of Government and has been outspoken in his support of the system.

"There is much more to be done in Andover", Allen said when asked about his aspirations for a fourth term, "and I want to continue to play a part in the challenge which growth has presented to the town. There seem to be forces at work to thwart healthy progress and I am convinced that additional efforts should be made to face that challenge."

In addition to his duties as Selectman, Allen serves as president of the Board of Trustees of Abbot Academy, as one of three alumni trustees of Phillips Academy, as a trustee of the Boston Symphony and Hurricane Island Outward Bound School, and as director of Duplison, Inc. (Westboro), Kenics Inc. (Danvers) and Walpole Woodworkers Inc. (Walpole) and former state senator, chairman of the Republican State Committee. Allen has also served in many state and federal administrative positions. He has been associated with Channel Two - the educational TV outlet as financial advisor and vice president, and has been active in many local and state-wide charitable activities.

Newman In School Contest

Irving L. Newman, 133 Lovejoy Rd., a practicing attorney with offices in Lawrence, is seeking a post on the Andover School Committee in the March election.

A specialist in government procurement and construction contracts, Newman was educated at MIT and Boston College Law School. He has engaged in design and development engineering and in the post war years became a consultant management engineer concerned with the administrative and managerial problems of private business.

Newman's interest in education has led him to make surveys of curriculum, techniques, organization and facilities at top rated systems. He has addressed a number of organizations on such topics as programs for the improvement of school systems and the Willis report.

On the 1965 Andover Educational Conference Committee, he was responsible for the research of material relating to new concept and innovation that was utilized in the exhibits in the conference.

The attorney is a lecturer for the Prep-Club program sponsored by the Greater Lawrence Chamber of Commerce and business and industries in the area. He explains the profit system to high school seniors.

The attorney is married to the former Harriet Wolfson of Brookline. Their children, Marc and Carol, are students at the Carnegie Institute of Technology and the Andover High School respectively. In announcing his candidacy, Newman stated that the people of Andover are seriously questioning whether:

1. Our children are being educated for the year 2000, or are they being shackled to the educational dogmas of the past.
2. Increasingly large sums of monies are being wisely and prudently spent, and
3. These expenditures actually improve the quality of all our children's educational and future needs.

These are the questions he intends to explore in his campaign.

expects sites to be determined before Town Meeting and said he "would appreciate an opportunity to participate in the planning and building" of the facilities.

Watters went on to say that he feels Andover is on the verge of industrial expansion along Routes 93 and 495 and would like to be part of a Board of Selectmen giving strong support to the Industrial Development Commission to bring tax revenue into Andover.

He said also that he favors a citizens committee to study the feasibility of providing additional recreational facilities for the town through construction of privately financed youth center to be maintained and operated by the town.

Editorial Comment

Needed: A Rousing Campaign

The lid comes off the 1967 municipal election campaign next Tuesday evening when the League of Women Voters will introduce the protagonists at the first of two Candidates' night sessions. This is the public kick-off. But the real campaign is underway and has been for months.

The issue is not conservation, now as "in" as it used to be "out". Nor is it recreation (a focal point for League interest this year), or the ABC program for underprivileged high school boys, or brick schools vs block, or flexible vs self-contained classrooms—or the relative merits of a cumbersome list of potential sites for a trio of new municipal buildings.

These are all questions that will be debated.

But what really hangs in the balance is the fate of the manager form of government in Andover.

Is it going to prevail? And if it prevails, is it going to function in a favorable climate, or are the reactionaries going to be permitted to chip away until the charter is without meaning?

Andover has a manager-Selectmen form of government because the majority of the people voted for it. And there is every indication that the majority is well satisfied with the decision. Certainly, if it was practical in 1957 to think in terms of putting the day-to-day administration of town affairs in the hands of a fulltime professional, it is valid now that the town's population has grown to an estimated 23,000.

There are some, however, who have never accepted the will of the people on this issue, some with influence in high places. Consequently, it is of the utmost importance that the public come to believe that the question of a strong manager form of government for Andover is still very much an issue.

It is important too that the townspeople recognize that the opponents of the present form of government may never take so direct an approach to change as a referendum or a revision of the charter, but that they may decide instead to create a political vacuum which will permit them to impede the efficient administration of the government without ever having to test the strength of their position.

For these reasons, it is imperative that every candidate for election in March be put in the position of having to declare himself on this issue. None should be permitted to be evasive.

It is obvious that members of the Board of Selectmen must be convinced of the desirability of a manager-board system of government for this community or they cannot possibly develop a working relationship with the paid administrator that will benefit the town.

Tenuous as the link is between the town house operation and the school department, it is important also that persons elected to the School Committee support the charter and reflect this support in a willingness to explore every possibility for town-school cooperation that will result in efficiency and economy for the town overall. Andover cannot afford power struggles.

Nor should voters fail to inquire about the attitude of the moderator toward the manager charter. Many seem to forget that the moderator's single most important function is the selection of members for the Finance Committee which means that it is he who determines whether or not the financial watchdogs are forward looking or tradition bound in their approach to budget pruning.

What this town needs is a rousing campaign that will bring the candidates' positions into sharp focus and give the public some clear choices.

Candidates' Night is the time to get the ball rolling.

Ahead Of The Axe

Western Electric Co. has taken the pollution bull by the horns, announcing immediate plans to enlarge its water purification operation in anticipation of the none-to-distant day when its present facilities will be inadequate to process industrial waste at the Merrimack Valley Works in North Andover.

Rather than wait for the State to swoop in with demands for compliance with purification standards that will ultimately apply to all who release wastes into the Merrimack, Western Electric is taking steps to see that its house stays in order. The move is a reflection of the manufacturer nationwide corporate policy on pollution.

WE's prompt and voluntary response to the need for policing will hopefully inspire other Valley industries to initiate programs of their own for pollution control.

And perhaps it will shame the municipalities into making some real progress with long delayed plans for a pollution abatement district. It is far more likely, however, that officials of the four communities negotiating will stall and stall until the axe falls.

Two Discussions

Denis Diderot is the author of the book up for discussion on Tuesday, Feb. 14 when members of the Great Books group meet at the library at 7:30 to talk over RAMBEAU'S NEPHEW. The second group will discuss Thoreau's CIVIL DISOBEDIENCE.

which starts, "I heartily accept the motto, - 'That government is best which governs least.' Carried out it finally amounts to this, which I also believe, - 'That government is best which governs not at all;' and when men are prepared for it, that will be the kind of government which they will have."

If you would like to get into the talk on this theme, you are welcome to join the group when they gather at Memorial Hall Library at 8 p.m. Thursday evening Feb. 16. Leaders of the evening will be Mrs. Fred Pease and George Walsh.

Down the Years

75 Years Ago - February, 1892
During the month of January just past there were twenty deaths in this town, which is probably the largest number ever recorded in one month here.

The annual hue and cry is being raised against our chief of police and this year the "retrenchers" etc., are bound that the office shall be abolished or a new man appointed or something else. We venture to assert that we know the good sense of the citizens of Andover too well to believe that any one of these changes will be made. Andover needs a chief of police, and we are glad to think that at the present day his duties are not arduous; such a condition speaks well of our town. But Andover is not unlike other places in she has some inhabitants who are law abiding because they dare not be anything else, and the very fact of an efficient police system has much to do with the present lawful conduct of this class. Chief Cheever has made an excellent officer, and we believe the town will endorse his appointment.

Some of the young ladies employed in the shop gave a leap year barge ride to their young gentlemen friends last Monday night. A trip was made to Haverhill and a supper was served in the Engine House on their return. dancing followed. Daniel Harrington carried the party and Messrs. Coates furnished the music.

The club of the Phillips Academy grill will roll the National Biscuit bowling team on the Transfer Alleys in Lawrence tonight.

Many people express surprise that Germany appears to wish for a conflict with the United States. But, after all, what is so surprising in the light of what is likely to come after the world-wide war is over? What is more natural than a desire on the part of the man who is down and out that all his neighbors shall be in a similar condition?

As a special methods for saving money for the promotion of Child Welfare, Mrs. David O. Mears, chairman for the National Committee for Child Welfare Day has asked all mothers and friends to set aside all Lincoln pennies.

What Our Readers Say

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

The people of Andover will soon have a unique opportunity. They will make an important decision at the local level on one of the really new and effective approaches to setting up in miniature "an equal opportunity for all"...namely the proposal for "A Better Chance". Among the many reasons for backing and adopting the "ABC" program the following three seem to be central to the issue at this time:

1. High School Academic Reputation. Because all of the "ABC" students have been carefully and selectively screened before receiving a full summer of well conceived training at Dartmouth College, they will add to rather than detract from Andover High's reputation along academic lines. Both in high school and later on in life there is every likelihood that their record will be one in which we can all take pride. Along these lines let us not forget that there may well be several, top-notch, high school teachers who are specifically attracted to Andover High teaching positions because the people of Andover have not dragged their feet on this matter.

2. Can We Afford To Say No? The cost of this program can and must be carefully considered, and this matter is now up for close examination. While the exact cost in terms of the request which will be made to the town of Andover is uncertain at this time to the writer, one possibility is that it may entail the waiver of tuition fees at the high school for the ten "ABC" students involved. We are already granting allowances of a similar nature to deserving foreign students. On the overall "out-of-pocket" expenses to the town for free "ABC" tuition something less than 1% of our annual School Department Budget would be involved. To throw some additional perspective in terms of costs on the issue it might be pointed out that the town is currently being asked to consider an expenditure of over $200,000 for trees and grass development. Can we afford not to make an investment of approximately one-thirtieth of this amount for the growth of a few "human" trees?

3. Let's Think "Tall" On This Issue. It would clear the air of a lot of misconceptions and false fears if every interested Andover voter could see the film on the "ABC" program which has been recently presented at Christ Church, West Parish Church, and South Church. Among the many interesting points brought out by this film is the reply of one of the "ABC" students on the Dartmouth campus who was being heckled by a few of his friends relative to his short stature. In this reply he not only squelched the hecklers, but may have added another nugget to New England, cracker-barrel philosophy. He remarked: "You are only as tall as you think." Like our short statured friend let's think "tall" on this issue in Andover.

From furniture's most memorable age comes the inspiration for The James River Collection. Treasured antiques from the Queen Anne and Georgian periods found in the stately plantation homes along the James River in Virginia are painstakingly re-created in this exquisite collection. Each carefully selected and researched piece is worthy of a place in tradition. Superb craftsmanship, evident in the authentic upholstery and in the flawlessly detailed mahogany solids and veneers, rivals that of such masters as Sheraton, Chippendale and Hepplewhite who distinguished the most noted era of furniture making. Capturing the elegance of gracious plantation living in colonial Virginia, The James River Collection perpetuates a tradition in time-honored home furnishings.

La Leche League began in a Chicago suburb ten years ago, when one mother who had successfully nursed her baby, helped another who wanted to breastfeed.

This is still the basic approach, although the League is now international in scope with more than 250 groups helping thousands of women in the United States, Canada, Mexico, Puerto Rico, Virgin Islands and New Zealand.

Extra Screenings Planned For Young Folks' Films

A new schedule of performances for the Children's Film Festival being held at Andrews Auditorium, Pike School, will go into effect Saturday. The response to the series of British produced adventure films has been so heavy that two additional screenings have been planned.

On Saturday, Feb. 11, the first show will run from 1:30 p.m. to 3:15 p.m. There will be an identical second show from 3:30 p.m. to 5:15 p.m. The date of the final film program has been moved forward from Feb. 25 to Feb. 18 in order that two screenings may again be scheduled.

The committee hopes that the schedule of two shows will lead to a distribution of interest so that preferred seats will be available to all who may wish to see the shows. Any who plan to attend and who are especially interested in preferred seating, are urged to attend the second showing at 3:30 p.m.

"The Salvage Gang", this Saturday's feature film, tells of four children who, while building a rabbit hutch, break a saw which belonged to one of the boys' fathers. They must earn money to replace the saw, and decide on the salvage business. The setting is London, and as can be imagined, the children find themselves in a series of scrapes.

"Five on Treasure Island", the continuing serial which has proved very popular with the six to twelve year old audience, goes into its next to last chapter.

Psychometric Art Show Illustrates Color Power

BILLET DOUX, a painting by Eloise Barnhurst

Eloise Barnhurst's "Psychometric Originals", on view at Lawrence Showcase Gallery until Valentine's Day, includes a collage which is timely-entitled "Love Note."

The Wakefield artist, who is also a teacher and lecturer, designed the modern art collection to "promote pleasure and interest in the visual values of aesthetics."

Miss Barnhurst regards color as power and power as the "most important element of life in our day." We have already learned to control fire and electricity, but we are trying to understand the significance of atomic fusion (physical force) and propaganda (mental persuasion), the artist explains.

These powers, like the power of color, can be used to build or to destroy, to create harmony or discord, Miss Barnhurst believes. In her view, "modern artists often try to depict the frightening magnitude of power in our time using shock values of form and dissonance of color combination."

In her work, however, Miss Barnhurst strikes out to use well balanced form and color harmony to stimulate understanding of color which she believes man is just learning to use for purpose. "When you are attracted to a particular color, it is quite likely that you have a need for red stimulation, orange courage, yellow caution, green growth, blue inspiration, indigo veracity or purple honor," the artist says in showing how she relates color to human emotions.

IRS Impact Panel Topic

The social concerns committee of the Unitarian-Universalist Church is sponsoring an open forum on "The Impact of Change?" Wednesday, Feb. 15 at 8 p.m. at the church, 244 Lowell St.

The possible effects of the Internal Revenue Service on the Greater Lawrence area will be discussed by James Stevens, member of the personnel staff of the IRS, Joseph B. Doherty, president of the Mass. Board of Realtors, and Mrs. Adeline Wright, former chairman of a local Fair Housing group. The meeting is open to the public.

School Menu

Monday - Ravioli with meat sauce, buttered wax beans, cheese wedge, Italian bread and butter, peanut butter cookie, purpleplums and milk.

Tuesday - Baked sausage patties, whipped potato, fresh spinach, hot spicy applesauce, buttered roll, Valentine cake and milk.

Thursday - Cafeteria baked beans with picnic ham, ketchup, cole slaw, Vienna bread and butter, fruit gelatin with topping and milk.

Sweet's Pupils Are Sweet Kids

Mrs. Jane Sweet's sixth grade pupils at the South School have joined with thousands of other American schoolchildren by sharing through CARE, it was announced this week.

Leon M. Blum, CARE's New England director, reported that a donation of $19.37 will be used to provide food and other assistance to the needy of India.

Previous donations during the past two years from this same class have provided nearly 40 school kits to needy students in Korea, Blum said.

BUSINESS PROFILES*Savastano's The Family Restaurant

Savastano's Restaurant, located at the corner of Oak and Short Streets in Lawrence, features the finest in Italian and American food. Why not take the family to Savastano's for dinner some evening or perhaps for Sunday dinner? The food is delicious and the atmosphere congenial.

Savastano's Restaurant and Catering Service was started over fifty years ago by Mr. and Mrs. Crescenzo Savastano and is still carried on today by their daughters, under the supervision of Lucy Zompa, president of the organization. In this way, with the same family running the business over the years, Savastano's has been able to offer the public the same excellent Italian and American cuisine and the same dependable catering service. They continue to make all their own Fettuccine and Cavatti right on the premises, from the old recipes, and also feature a delicious homemade Minestrone Soup.

If you are planning any type of special party, such as a banquet, wedding reception, or anniversary celebration, consider having it at Savastano's. They have a large banquet room with a separate kitchen and bar on the main floor. Special menus are available, and arrangements can be made by a simple phone call. Savastano's also offers a complete Catering Service at any location you wish. Try this handy take-out service for your next home party. The simplest or most elaborate cocktail hour or buffet can be prepared and served by them. After the party, everything is cleaned away quickly, a feature that every hostess will appreciate.

Shoppers as well as businessmen in the area will love Savastano's inexpensive Noontime Specials, served daily from 11:30 till 3 o'clock. Drop in for a cup of coffee and a lunch that you will really enjoy.

Savastano's Restaurant closes its kitchen at 8:30 Tuesday through Sunday, so plan to get there early when you take the family for dinner. For information or dinner reservations, phone 689-9214. For Savastano's Catering Service, phone 682-1955. Both are located at the corner of Oak and Short Streets in Lawrence. Closed all day Monday.

Company To Locate Here

Union Adhesive Co. announced at a luncheon here for Andover industrialists and town officials last week that it will build a 15,000 to 20,000 factory off Route 93 and River Road, becoming the first manufacturer to locate in the West Andover industrial zone.

Frederick P. Worthen, an Andover resident and president of the company reported that some 25 people will be employed initially, but that the operation could expand to employ as many as 150 in a few years. Union Adhesive is a division of Union Paste Co., Hyde Park.

The informal luncheon was arranged by the Andover Industrial Development Commission so that the town could say to industrialists: "We're glad you're here."

The luncheon meeting also gave town officials an opportunity to get better acquainted with representatives from such companies as Raytheon, Standard International, Allied Chemical, DASA, Converse Rubber Co. etc.

It also provided industrialists with an opportunity to question town policies. Daniel F. Hogan for one, president of Standard International, commented on the zoning restriction which prevents construction of downtown buildings in excess of 40 feet in height.

He said such a restriction is too limiting and pointed to the fact that his corporation will soon be short of space in its new headquarters building in Elm Square.

Permission to add a fourth floor to the brick structure was denied some months ago by the Zoning Board of Appeals.

Mentioning that the SI building is headquarters for an $80,000,000 a year operation, Hogan said he thought others would be interested in establishing corporate offices in Andover if its regulations on downtown construction were less rigid.

Opportunity, said that despite "dire predictions", the Peace Corps has been an outstanding success. It now receives applications from roughly 100,000 young people annually. He added that probably Phillips Academy has supplied the Corps with more volunteers than any other school in the U. S.

The former Corpsman attributed the success of the voluntary program to "a difference in motivation." He said it proposes "Bolivian" solutions to "Bolivian" problems, an approach which opens the hearts and minds of peoples abroad to Corps' suggestions.

Joseph F. Barton of Andover was at the ceremony to accept one of the Claude Moore Fuess Awards for his son, Joseph E. Barton who is currently with the Corps in Colombia. Other Andover men honored were Alan R. Blackmer Jr., Daniel H. Fitts and Joshua Miner.
